The gang’s all here: Project leaders, student team members from the Bridgeport Regional Aquaculture Science and Technology Education Center, industry partners, researchers, and interested others return ecstatic from planting the first kelp “seed” in Long Island Sound. It was a great day on the “Urban Sea”! Photo by Amy McLeod.

Seaweed Saturday at Outer Island
July 9, 2011
photos by Virginia Baltay, Friends of Outer Island

Peg tells the group about their collection from the rocky shores of the island.

Mary Alice Lee delights with her seaweed find.

Collecting was no problem on the island—algae was everywhere.

Judy DeSalvatore prepared a yummy sushi lunch for the Seaweed Saturday participants.